httpÂ·.Loss of DNA double-strand breaks in quiescent radiation-induced 53BP1-depleted cells. We generated DNA double-strand breaks (DSBs) in quiescent fibroblasts by treating the cells with N-methyl-N'-nitro-N-nitrosoguanidine or ionizing radiation. After incubation of the irradiated cells in the presence or absence of 1 microM aphidicolin, the cell cycle reentry in the absence of aphidicolin was compared by the increase of the frequency of cell proliferation. The frequency of proliferation was higher in the aphidicolin-treated cells than in the no-aphidicolin-treated cells, and it was negatively correlated with the amount of 53BP1 protein. These results indicate that DSBs caused by ionizing radiation induce the cell cycle in anaphase in quiescent cells.Electricity sector passed through most significant expansion in four years Published: 13.09.2015 The number of electric power meters in Europe has been increased by 19%, to more than 16 million, from 2012 to 2015, rising from 4.7 million to 5.3 million in the period, according to statistics from the European Union's statistics agency. This record or the most significant expansion in this area in four years. According to a press release, in 2015, the share of power in electric consumption (electricity plus heat and other energy) of electricity increased, and is currently 3%, compared to 1% in 2000. At the same time, the average consumption of electricity per household increased by 1.5% from 2014 to 2015, to reach 19.9 kWh per day, in accordance with the increase in the price of electricity. Thus, in the period 2011-2015, the average amount of electricity consumed per household increased by 3%, 1.4% per capita per household, and 2.6% per inhabitant per year.
