If you like my work and want to say thanks, you can donate for me on patreon: of tomographic reconstruction in lung cancer localization. Computerized tomography (CT) is a diagnostic tool which is frequently used for preoperative localization of lung cancer lesions. In some cases it can be easily demonstrated that the lesion is located in the wall of a central air bronchus. The purpose of this study was to evaluate the usefulness of this technique for the localization of the lesions. To evaluate the effectiveness of CT, CT images were analyzed by two radiologists. Location of the tumor was compared to the location of the lesions identified at surgery. The study included CT images of 130 patients, consisting of 65 men and 65 women. There was some discrepancy in the identification of the tumor using the two methods. However, this discrepancy did not lead to different surgical approaches. The use of reconstruction was shown to be useful in many cases in which the tumor was located in a central air bronchus.

Q: How to export the results to an Excel sheet using C#? I am trying to export results from an SSRS report to an excel sheet. I am not trying to export to a PDF, just an Excel sheet. I know that there are tons of examples on the net and tried using them but i wasn't able to. I tried these but they didn't work. Is it possible that the data to be exported to excel sheet has to be dynamic or static? Any example would be appreciated. Here is the code

str = str + Environment.NewLine + "ReleaseId"; str = str + Environment.NewLine + "ReleaseDate"; str = str + Environment.NewLine + "ProductCode"; str = str + Environment.NewLine + "Supplier"; str = str + Environment.NewLine + "SupplierCode";
