Here's more information from EA on the new feature: We use the Human Engine to provide real-life movement of every player on the pitch during gameplay, recreating the natural challenges and emotions of the game. This is a unique next-generation technical innovation that mirrors a real player's movements in every phase of play on the pitch. We have developed a proprietary system called the HyperMotion Engine (HME) that allows us to bring the player's movements to life in a way that is precise, immersive and lifelike. HME generates motion data on the 3D mesh body of each player using measured distances and angles to capture the real player's movement and interaction on the pitch with amazing speed and detail. Players are an integral part of FIFA 22's gameplay, with the engine recreating their motions, speed, acceleration and more, making players feel like they're really on the pitch. For developers, HyperMotion Technology provides a great starting point for creating gameplay by recreating player movements. With HME, it is possible to recreate the movements of the game's most dynamic players, creating gameplay options and experiences not previously possible. For real-life players, HME is a core feature of FIFA 22, giving players an incredibly detailed experience that reflects their level of play. For example, if you match your player up against a professional player, your motion capture data will be seamlessly integrated into their controls. This allows for a completely immersive and realistic experience. FIFA Ultimate Team has a number of new cards to collect from FIFA 22. Here's more information on these cards: The Blue and Gold pack includes Ronaldo, Pele and other new Gold and Blue cards for FIFA Ultimate Team. FIFA 22 New Player Features We wanted to expand the scope of the game's Ultimate Team experience by adding a set of new cards to FIFA Ultimate Team in both the Blue and Gold Packs. The Blue and Gold Packs feature four new Blue and Gold cards, each of which unlocks a new way to play on FIFA 22 Ultimate Team. More importantly, the Gold and Blue Packs include a number of new player cards to complement the new offerings on the pitch. Some of the new cards on offer include: Cristiano Ronaldo Real Madrid's star striker is back on the new FIFA roster with a new card and profile, bringing the world-class

New FIFA Soccer Experience • Even more control with Defending AI • Ultimate team experience with Career Mode and new Transfer Market. • New Skill Challenges • New Tactical Settings for all Seasons • 64 teams including 8 new teams (Mongolia, Gibraltar, Kosovo, San Marino, Turkey, Andorra, Austria and Kosovo) • 3 new leagues (League1, League2, League3) FIFA 22 features more ball control with players that are so realistic, your favorite goalie could make a save in the middle of the park. New defensive AI and attacking pressure changes ensure that teams work together to stop your attacks. New in FIFA 22 Two new directions for the World Cup • Limited licence editions for the 28 match-ups, which all players can play • FIFA 22 Full Career + Career Draft Mode FIFA 22 features more ball control with players that are so realistic, your favorite goalkeeper could make a save in the middle of the park. New defensive AI and attacking pressure changes ensure that teams work together to stop your attacks. Powered by Football? New Nike Micro-Throwing Dynamics • Players are more intelligent about where they want to move the ball • Players are more unpredictable with the ball • Players will more likely to be able to take on a defender in the danger zone • Players are more likely to use their body to shield the ball New Player Intelligence FIFA 22 introduces Player Intelligence, which helps make every player on the field behave like an individual. Players are able to sense and avoid contact, react to pressure and shield the ball. The AI also takes into account players' tendencies to seek out and move the ball and players' awareness of their movement. Individual behavior will increase throughout the game. New Dribbling FIFA 22 features three new dribbling styles: • The Kinda Pass is the new go-to pass, which has been influenced by the kind of pass that the player wants to make. If a player uses a poor pass, such as an absolute, under-hit one-two, the player will use a different pass-type to try and improve the quality of his pass. The player uses a poor pass-type because he knows it's the closest pass type the player could make at that moment. • The Split Dribble is a new bc9d6d6daa
