10 of 17Dragon Age: Ode to Movement By: PokemonMaster7551 Dragon Age, catagory: Roleplay - FantasyHere is a "Roleplay" version of Dragon Age, with more detail. King Edward and the Priests of the Templar Order have united against Meridian, and their army marches against the Iron Coast. You are Prince Anders Arina von Baildon, the new Prince of Amestris. Join the forces of the Elven Empire and raise an army to take back your kingdom from the terrorists! Are the available elven forces capable of an attack on the enemy? Do you have what it takes to lead your people to victory? A simple way to begin is to select the unit you want to play and, once the chapter is complete, that unit will appear at the "Ready" banner at the top of the screen. You can have several options in any chapter, and all units will be available to choose from, regardless of the chapter you are in. You can change the units over at any time. _____ GEM OF THE GAME _____ THE RULES OF THE GAME: Prior to starting your battles, you will need to complete other objectives. Here are the possible assignments, numbered from 1 to 8: 1. EXPLORE - Become familiar with the various towns and villages. Talk to the NPC to learn helpful information about the area. 2. DEFEND - Spend your experience points gained in battles and foraging to build up your town. Everyone needs to

Note that it's required in order to be able to move objects, an action which is performed using the controller input. Instructions to control 1.In the menu screen, enter "Learning Pause" mode by clicking on the "L1" button while pressing the R1 button, then enter "Hard Controls" mode by clicking on the "L2" button while pressing the R1 button. 2.After you have entered the "Hard Controls" mode, you can control the game by clicking on the corresponding buttons of the gamepad to assign the actions to that button. When moving, using the directional buttons, make sure to use the L1 button to prevent the camera from sliding while moving. 3.Using the controller buttons, assign the actions to the buttons on the gamepad. Note. Depending on the gamepad you are using, the buttons may not correspond to the exact buttons on the gamepad. For example, the left-right trigger of the gamepad may correspond to the "Move Up" button. GAMEPLAY 1. The player starts in the tutorial area. 2. As the game progresses, new areas and other types of areas become available for the player. These areas are randomly generated, but some areas are pre-determined, such as the tutorial area. When you encounter a pre-determined area, you will be placed into this area when you start a new game. 3. A life gauge (health) appears on the top right of the screen. By using the right-left buttons, you can reduce your health, and by using the A button, you can restore it. When the life gauge is at zero, your character will lose consciousness, and you will be placed in the last area you were in. 4. The game takes place in a top-down view, allowing you to move from right to left or vice versa. 5. The player takes on a new adventure by moving from right to left and jumping over the obstacles. The battles take place in a top-down view, allowing you to attack
